

FICTION

- Eden [NEW] FIC Blasberg
“A stirring historical novel perfect for women's-fiction fans.”
- When We Meet Again [NEW] FIC Harmel
“Harmel authentically weaves American history into this engaging novel. An appealing family saga that connects generations and reaffirms love.”
- Before the Fall [NEW] FIC Hawley
“This is a gritty tale of a man overwhelmed by unwelcome notoriety, with a stunning, thoroughly satisfying conclusion.”
- Eleanor Oliphant is Completely Fine [NEW] FIC Honeyman
“A very funny novel about the survivor of a childhood trauma. Honeyman’s debut is part comic novel, part emotional thriller, and part love story.”
- It Ends with Us [NEW] FIC Hoover
“Packed with riveting drama and painful truths, this book powerfully illustrates the devastation of abuse—and the strength of the survivors.”
- The Inn at Lake Devine FIC Lipman
“Set in the summer of 1962, this romantic comedy is about the relationship between Jews and Gentiles, a segregated inn in Vermont, and 12-year old Natalie Marx’s sense of justice during a turbulent time in America.”
- Unaccustomed Earth: Short Stories FIC Lahiri
“These stories are gorgeously written and full of humanity and characters you will take to your heart.”
- The Children FIC Leary
“Leary’s characters are a delightful blend of strong personalities, and her darkly comic send-ups of New England wealth, nouveau riche, and Internet culture should keep readers absorbed until the final, most shocking secrets are revealed.”
- The Girls in the Garden FIC Jewell
“Fans of Liane Moriarty will be captivated by this family drama that’s a perfect blend of women’s fiction and nail-biting suspense.”

- All the Missing Girls [NEW] FIC Miranda
“Miranda takes a risk by telling the story backward, but it pays off with an undroppable thriller, plenty of romantic suspense, and a fresh take on the decades-old teenage-murder theme.”
- The Chaperone FIC Moriarty
“Travel from Wichita to New York City in the summer of 1922 with a young, obnoxious Louise Brooks and her chaperone, Cora Carlisle, who uncovers her own secret past there.”
- Behind Closed Doors [NEW] FIC Paris
“In the same vein as Gone Girl or Girl on the Train, this is a can't-put-down psychological thriller.”
- Shell Seekers FIC Pilcher
“This novel about a strong woman and her complicated family. Published years ago, but it's full of seashells and flowers and the sense that all will be well in the end.”
- Seating Arrangements FIC Shipstead
“This novel is set on a beach and features lots of cocktails and simmering family resentments. It's a page-turner and so gripping and moving you'll forget you're at the beach.”
- The Vacationers FIC Straub
“It’s about a family trip to Spain, and everyone has issues. It’s funny, sad, and poignant.”
- How to Talk to a Widower FIC Tropper
“Tropper went on to huge acclaim with his subsequent novels, but this one, about a young widower who has to reboot his life (complete with a teenage stepson), is a favorite. His humor is sharp as ever, and his voice and storytelling are both poignant and real.”
- The Little Stranger FIC Waters
“It has everything in a race-to-the-end story—a crumbling English mansion; a chilly, doomed romance; and the creepiest, most chilling ghost story.”
- The Underground Railroad [NEW] FIC Whitehead
“A highly recommended work that raises the bar for fiction addressing slavery.”
